THE REAL QUESTION.

The real question of disease is "Can I be cured?" If you or anyone dear to you is losing strength, flesh, energy and vitality, if you are wise you will not spend time trying to figure out just what name to call the disease by.

It is almost impossible to draw the line where debility and weakness merge into consumption. Your trouble may not be consumption to-day, but you don't know what it may become to-morrow. Hundreds of people have been restored to robust health by Dr. Pierce's marvelous "Golden Medical Discovery" after reputable physicians had pronounced them consumptive beyond hope.

Were they in consumption? Nobody can ever know. The important point is that they were hopelessly ill but this matchless "Discovery" restored and saved them.

"I was not able to do hardly any work at all," says Mrs. Jennie Dingman, of Vanburen, Kalkaska Co., Mich., in a most interesting letter to Dr. Pierce. "I had pain in my left side and back, and had headache all the time. I tried your medicine and it helped me. Last spring I had a bad cough; I got so bad I had to be in bed all the time.

"My husband thought I had consumption. He wanted me to get a doctor, but I told him if it was consumption they could not help me. We thought we would try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and before I had taken one bottle the cough was stopped and I have had no more of it returning. Your medicine is the best I have taken."

Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce. He will send you good, fatherly, professional advice, in a plain sealed envelope, absolutely free. His nearly 40 years experience as chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo, N. Y., has made him an expert in chronic diseases.

Constipation causes and aggravates many serious diseases. It is thoroughly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

To Our Friends and Patrons:

WE THANK YOU FOR YOUR LIBERAL PATRONAGE IN THE PAST AND WISH YOU A HAPPY AND PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR.

E. P. HEISE.

Kitchen Troubles and the Remedy.

Only a few years ago it was considered good form to encase the sink in wood thereby concealing the trap, making it inaccessible and offering a place for the collection of filth and vermin.

If this condition exists in your household, let us remedy the trouble by installing a snowy white "Standard" Porcelain Enameled Kitchen Sink. Our work is satisfactory and prices right.

Now is the time you should be getting more eggs—they're worth more money. Are you getting them? As a rule hens stop laying when prices go up but it is not their fault. They can't get the proper material. Feed them

Romance of a Song.

"I'll Hang My Harp on a Willow Tree" has attached to it a bit of royal romance. It was written by a young nobleman who became deeply enamored of Queen Victoria a year or so before she ascended the English throne, which event destroyed his hopes of winning her hand. The words first appeared in an English magazine and were set to music by Wellington Guernsey.

One—Are you certain that you love the girl?

Tuther—Certain? Why, I can't sleep of nights for thinking about her.

One—I bet the same effect from my tailor's bill.

COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

Saturday, December 30, 1905.

D. E. O'KEEFE.....EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

OAKLAND ON THE RATE ISSUE.

At the time the Board of Trade of Oakland, Cal., appointed delegates to the Interstate Commerce Law Convention at Chicago, the following resolutions, submitted by a committee, were adopted unanimously:

"Whereas, An effort is to be made in the next Congress of the United States to empower the United States Commerce Commission with authority to fix and regulate freight rates throughout the United State; and

"Whereas, The Pacific Coast is peculiarly situated in so far as freight transportation is concerned by reason of water competition from all parts of the world; and

Whereas, Arbitrary freight rates based on mileage, or not taking into consideration the peculiarly advantageous water transportation conditions would work a hardship on all shippers on the Pacific coast; would give undue power to any commission and might tend to upbuild one section of the country to the detriment of another section and to crush legitimate competition; and

"Whereas, The Oakland Board of Trade is entitled to three delegates to the Interstate Commerce Law Convention to be held in Chicago, October 26, 27 and 28, 1905, and said Oakland Board of Trade by resolution has put itself on record as adverse to legislation that will give the Interstate Commerce Commission power to make freight rates; therefore be it

"Resolved, That this committee recommend the appointment of a committee of three from the Oakland Board of Trade and suggest the following: Hugh Hogan, I. A. Beretta and Secretary Edward Stearns, to attend the meeting of the Interstate Commerce Law Convention to be held in Chicago, October 26, 27 and 28, and protest against any and all resolutions that may be offered tending to give the Interstate Commerce Commission power to arbitrarily fix freight rates; and be it further

"Resolved, That in the belief that such fixing of freight rates will prove a great detriment to the shipping of the Pacific Coast, this committee requests the board of directors of the Oakland Board of Trade to ratify the action of this committee.

An exchange hits the nail squarely on the head as follows: "There never was a paper in any locality that gave all the news. It is often that persons come and go whom the reporter does not see. It happens that a family is missed several times. They get the impression that the paper does not care to mention them. It is a mistake. The paper has no ill-feeling, no spite, no enmity against anybody. Most people take the local paper. Don't be afraid to give the reporter news of interest. Perhaps you think the paper shows partiality, but try and see if it doesn't treat you well if given a chance."

Comment has been made that the three men who caused the jury in the Collins case to disagree are either insane or were influenced in their opinions. Never in the history of the State was there a case presented to the jury where the guilt of the accused was so well established; yet these three voted for an acquittal, contrary to all instincts of virtue and ignoring the claims of true manhood, womanhood and motherhood.

The appointment of Franklin K. Lane to the Interstate Commerce Commission, and of Francis J. Heney to take charge of the land fraud cases, deprives the Democracy of their two leading candidates for Governor next year and they are very much at sea who to nominate.

Under the statehood measure proposed by the Republican caucus Arizona will absorb New Mexico, but the new State will not be entirely harmonious. Some time must elapse before sagebrush and cactus can fraternize.

Some druggists may not figure on golden harps and crown in heaven, but they expect something "just as good."

Death of John G. Jury Sr.

John G. Jury Sr., father of R. H. Jury editor of the San Mateo Leader, died at his home in San Jose last Saturday after an illness of only one week. Mr. Jury was born in Redrouth, England, 71 years ago and and at the early age of 18 years came to America, arriving in California in the early 50s. San Jose has been his home for many years. He was an honest and upright man, respected by all who knew him.

Resolutions by Pescadero Lodge.

PESCADERO, Dec. 20, 1905.

The following resolutions were adopted by Pescadero Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F.:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God, the ruler of the universe, to remove from our number our beloved brother James A. Hamilton;

Resolved, That in the loss of our worthy brother this lodge has lost one of its members who always took a deep interest in our welfare; That this lodge tender to the family of our most worthy brother its sincerest sympathy in their great affliction, and that they may know we hold him in such high esteem; That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of brother Hamilton and also be published in the county paper.

H. W. GOOD, C. J. COBURN, committee.

VICTOR HUGO'S HOUSE.

He Was Not Its Owner, and For a Very Good Reason.

The house in which Victor Hugo died in Paris was in the avenue which bears his name and close to his statue.

Arsene Houssaye in Les Annales says that he never addressed a letter to him in any other fashion than—

To Victor Hugo,
At His Avenue.

Yet the house itself had a modest appearance. Its chief charms were a beautiful garden, with great trees and a delightful fountain, and the extraordinary richness of its furniture.

The house did not belong to Victor Hugo. It had been built by the Princess de Lurignan, and Hugo finally tried to buy it from the princess. To his amazement she asked £80,000.

The lady smiled. "That is nothing, considering," she remarked pleasantly.

"Considering what?" demanded the still bewildered poet.

"Think, master. This little house has had the incomparable honor of having been lived in by Victor Hugo."

The master smiled in his turn as he replied, this time without a trace of bewilderment:

"Ah, madam, you see I am not rich enough to have a house which has been lived in by Victor Hugo."—T. P.'s London Weekly.

A wireless telegraph operator in Porto Rico a few days ago caught a message passing between New York and Boston. Even now the marvels of electricity appear to be in the first chapter.

Manager Carl Plump of the Redwood City Orchestra assures us that the orchestra, with the addition of several artists from San Francisco, will render better music for the Eagles' ball to-night than has been heard in Redwood before. As heretofore, the music is to be a specialty and the committee have left the matter in the hands of Manager Plump to secure the best, no matter what it costs.

The debate between Sequoia High School and Hoitt's last Saturday evening in the assembly hall of the grammar school was won by the former. The subject was "Shall the Public Roads of California Be Built by Its Criminal and Pauper Population?" Miss McDonough, Miss Davis, and Miss Clark, fully sustained the reputation of old Sequoia for its debating ability. The three young ladies advanced good arguments. A banquet followed the debate.

District Attorney Bullock filed an information against John Meyers in the Superior Court Thursday, charging the prisoner with the crime of jail breaking. Meyers was found guilty in February of last year of stealing two horses from James Curran. He broke jail and escaped to San Francisco, where he was afterward arrested and brought back. After serving his sentence at Folsom he came back here two weeks ago and was at once arrested for jail breaking. His excuse for coming back to this locality was that while here two years ago he loaned a jackknife to a party living here. He will appear in the Superior Court next Tuesday to plead.

Catholic Church.

Everyone was delighted with the Christmas services; and the old church was bright with innumerable lights, choice flowers and evergreens. All the Masses were attended by large congregations; and there were a great many communicants at each of the early Masses. Solemn High Mass was sung at 10:30 by the pastor, assisted by deacon and sub-deacon from the seminary. An eloquent sermon was preached by Rev. Fr. Woods, S. J. All the Sanctuary boys of the parish were in attendance, and much praise is due to them for their attention and regularity at all times. The Convent children sang beautifully at the first Mass. Mrs. Jamieson presided at the organ. The grand music at High Mass will long be remembered by all who were present; and Miss Hadler and the members of the choir have justly been the recipients of a great many compliments.

Next Monday, being the feast of the circumcision of our Lord (a holy day of obligation,) a low Mass will be said at 7 o'clock. Mass will be sung at 9, when there will also be a sermon and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

A FIRST-CLASS COMPANY.

The Plays in the Alhambra the Fore Part of the Week Were Good.

The Carroll-French Stock Company played to big houses the three first nights of this week. It is generally admitted that it was the best show company that has ever come to town. The actors and actresses were considerably above the average of the profession and were perfect gentlemen and ladies. Those who attended the Alhambra were highly pleased. Where ever the company goes it is certain to make a hit. "Hearts of Oak" was played the first evening. The screamingly funny farce "His Better Half" was put on the boards the second evening and Wednesday night "The End" was played. It is a strong, sensational melodrama, intermingled with sparkling comedy. The first act deals with a young lord, who by careless living has lost his fortune and is compelled through gambling debts to sell his home at auction.

M'DERMOTT ESTATE CONTEST

A Surprise Sprung by John Joseph Fannen, Claimant.

Asks that Distribution Be Made to Him, Under an Agreement as Adopted Son.

When the petition of I. S. Knapp for partial distribution of the Bridget McDermott estate came up for hearing in the Superior Court Thursday morning quite a surprise was sprung by Attorney Goodwin of the firm of Garoutte & Goodwin, San Francisco. He objected to the petition, saying that if there was any money to be distributed that it be distributed to John J. Fannen. The attorney has commenced a suit to have all the property distributed to Fannen, alleging that an agreement had been entered into between Bridget McDermott and Fannen whereby the latter was to remain with her as her son and at her death he would inherit all her property. The estate has already been in litigation for nearly three years, and the new suit promises to keep it before the courts for some time to come.

Mrs. McDermott died intestate in 1902. Shortly afterwards her brother, James McGuire, applied through his attorneys, Geo. C. Ross and J. J. Barrett, for letters of administration. Before the letters were issued Ann Burns, a niece of Mrs. McDermott, produced a will alleging to be the last will and testament of Mrs. McDermott. By the terms of the document the bulk of the property was bequeathed to the niece. A contest ensued and the will was declared to be fraudulent. An appeal was taken and the Supreme Court sustained the lower court. It appeared as if the litigation was at an end and that the estate was in a fair way of settlement, when the surprise was sprung Thursday.

Young Fannen in his petition alleges: Your petitioner represents and alleges the fact to be, that in the month of June, 1888, Hugh McDermott and Bridget McDermott, the deceased, were husband and wife, living together at San Mateo, in the county of San Mateo, this State. That they then had a home in said town in which they were then residing, and had so resided for a great number of years prior thereto, and in said year 1888 were each about fifty or fifty-five years of age, and childless.

That in said month of June, 1888, petitioner was fourteen years of age, and an orphan, living at the Youths' Directory, in the City and County of San Francisco, said State, in charge of the officers of said institution. That during said month of June, 1888, said Hugh McDermott visited said Youths' Directory, and with the consent of the officers of said institution took petitioner with him to reside with the said Hugh McDermott and his said wife, in their said home at San Mateo. That from the time said Hugh McDermott took petitioner to his home, as herien above alleged, until the death of said Hugh McDermott, as hereafter alleged, petitioner resided continuously with said Hugh McDermott and his said wife, in their said home, and said Hugh McDermott and his said wife treated petitioner kindly, and petitioner during all of said time endeavored to the best of his ability to be dutiful and obedient to them.

That on the 9th day of January, 1890, said Hugh McDermott died. That within thirty days after the death of said Hugh McDermott petitioner stated to said Bridget McDermott that he would have to start out in the world for himself, and thereupon said Bridget McDermott stated to petitioner that she desired to have him remain and live with her as her son as long as she should live, and promised him that if he would do so, and would be a good dutiful son, she would treat him as if he were her own son, and leave him at her death all of her property. That in consideration of said promise so made by said Bridget McDermott, petitioner then and there agreed with and promised said Bridget McDermott that he would live with her as her son as long as she lived, and be a good dutiful son to her.

That petitioner lived with said Bridget McDermott as her son in the said home at San Mateo from the time said agreement was made, as hereinbefore alleged, continuously until the death of said Bridget McDermott, as hereinafter alleged, and during all of said time gave her the love, care, attention and consideration due from a son to his mother; and said Bridget McDermott during all of said time loved and cared for petitioner as though he were her son.

That on the 30th day of December, 1902, said Bridget McDermott died intestate, and without children, in the said county of San Mateo, said State, and without executing a will or any instrument conveying said property to this petitioner.

Wherefore, petitioner prays that this honorable Court hear his proofs in support of this petition and upon the same being established to the satisfaction of the Court, that all the property of said estate which is now ready for distribution, or which can safely be distributed, be distributed to him as the party entitled thereto under and by virtue of the agreement made between the said Bridget McDermott, deceased, and this petitioner, and your petitioner will ever pray, etc. JOHN JOSEPH FANNEN.

DIES UNATTENDED.

W. P. A. Brewer Succumbs to Pneumonia Before Physician Arrives.

W. P. A. Brewer, one of the prominent and wealthy citizens of this county, died at his home at San Mateo of pneumonia after an illness of only one week. The deceased was a native of Massachusetts and 55 years of age. He came to San Mateo from the Hawaiian Islands about twenty years ago and established a dairy farm, in which he built up a fortune. He was also extensively engaged in the reclamation of marsh lands, which he made highly profitable.

He is survived by two daughters, Misses Nora and Annie Brewer, who recently returned from two years spent in European travel, and a son, Frank, a student at the State University. It is understood that no doctor was in attendance to give a certificate of the cause of death. When he fell into a stupor Thursday afternoon Dr. Norris was called, but when he arrived the patient had been dead for nearly an hour. It is not known whether the authorities will deem an inquest necessary on this account.

THE DEATH OF A PIONEER.

Edward M. Beeson Passes Away on Christmas Day.

Watched the Progress of This City With Interest, and Was a Worthy Man.

Edward Milton Beeson, one of Redwood City's oldest and most respected citizens, passed to his eternal home at noon on Christmas day.

Mr. Beeson was ill but a few weeks, though he had been ailing for some time. Death was caused by heart failure. For nearly half a century he had resided here. He was an industrious, peaceful citizen; one whom every one liked and loved.

Mr. Beeson was born near Salem, North Carolina in 1827, and at an early age came to California settling first on the Murphy ranch near Mountain View. H afterwards moved to Pescadero where his eldest son W. W. Beeson, Redwood City's popular blacksmith, was born. A year or so later he moved to Sonoma county, having learned the wagon-making trade. Here he increased his opportunities of a livelihood by learning the carpenter's trade, also a fortunate move, for in those days (1857) the master of but one trade was apt to find himself out of work.

For five years he lived in Santa Cruz, and then came to San Mateo county, engaging in farming near Pescadero for many years. The longing to again return to his trades resulted in the sale of his farm and his removal to Redwood City, where he built a shop and residence, and settled down to contribute his share towards the upbuilding of the town. From a mere hamlet to a thriving town he interestedly watched its progress, in the meantime working up a large and remunerative trade with the surrounding country.

Practically retired for many years, he was hail and hearty up to the time of his death and assisted in the wood work department of his son's shop. For a few years he farmed the old Hop ranch near Ravenswood.

He married Mehitable Bachelor, who was born in Maine and reared in Illinois, and the children born to their union were: Albert, Alice A., the wife of George Allen; Willis W., Ella V., Edward A., and Henry, who died when young.

The funeral which took place Wednesday afternoon was largely attended by old friends and acquaintances.

Rev. Kirtland held service at the residence of the deceased. Interment was in Union cemetery. The following old friends acted as pall-bearers:

Judge Buck, J. H. Mansfield, George W. Lovie, John W. Glennan, P. P. Chamberlain and C. H. Offermann.

THE MAJESTIC,

San Francisco.

Despite the overwhelming success of Justin Huntley's beautiful drama "If I Were King," Manager Bishop has another surprise to spring upon his patrons beginning with the holiday matinee on New Year's day, when he will present a superb revival of the best play ever written, namely, the international success "When We Were Twenty-One," by H. V. Esmond. In order to make this production exceed any former presentation of the beautiful comedy, Mr. Bishop has brought together the most remarkable cast ever seen in a stock company production. It will be headed by the magnetic and beautiful young actress Miss Amelia Gardner, who has come all the way from London to become the leading woman of Bishop's players. Miss Gardner will again be seen in the bewitching part of Phyllis, which she has played over 500 times and in which she scored her greatest triumph. The new leading man is Mr. Franklyn Underwood, whose Sebastian, in "The Light Eternal," was a never-to-be-forgotten portrayal. Mr. Underwood will play the lovable role of Dick Carew, the unselfish, big-hearted Dick. George Friend who comes direct from New York will play the Imp, the best juvenile part ever written. Mr. Friend was with the Nat Goodwin production of "When We Were Twenty-One," and has played the Imp many times. That splendid and painstaking actor L. R. Stockwell has been specially engaged to play the delightful role of Waddles; John D. O'Hara will once again be seen in his favorite role of the Major, and Margaret Maclyn will be the Mrs. Erickson. The balance of the cast will be of just as extraordinary strength and no effort or expense will be spared to make the production the most remarkable in the history of the play.

Bay Shore Pushing Work.

The Bay Shore road is pushing the work on their line all the way through. During the past week they have been driving piles near South San Francisco to increase the strength of their roadbed.

Felix, saying he was going to Woodside and would return in a few hours. Not coming back that day, Mr. Felix notified the officers and on Wednesday the horse and rig was found in a livery stable at San Mateo. Frazer had left them there on Tuesday and hurriedly departed for San Francisco. Frazer was mixed up in a scrape some years ago with a gardener employed by J. Leroy Nickel.

President O. A. Hale, Treasurer Chapin and Jere Burke, of the Interurban company were in Palo Alto Wednesday looking over the territory, especially the Seale addition in South Palo Alto, and it is highly probable that the road will pass through South Palo Alto, as these officials looked over this ground two months ago. Mr. Seale states that no definite arrangements have been made, and that he knows nothing of the intention of the railroad officials, but that the right of way is forthcoming for any company wanting to run a railroad through South Palo Alto. Mr. Seale also said: "Palo Alto needs an electric railroad, and a good hotel. I think we will have them both before very long."
